Hui Uniona Ignores Cohen; Endorses Parker For Sheriff

Independent Candidate Maintains He Still Has Labor Vote

Hon. Joel M. Cohen, aspirant for senatorial honor, who believed that he had the general support of the Hui Uniona of Honolulu, was ignored last night by the Hui Unionists who held their meeting in the headquarters on Queen Street. Cohen's name was not considered at all, and George K. Kane, president of the Hui Uniona, who, it is said, promised Cohen the support of the unionists, was not there to deliver the goods.

The only haole candidate who received the unanimous endorsement of the unionists was Major Walter, of the Occidental Hotel. He is a member of the Hui Uniona.

According to D. Kalauokalani, Sr., a member of the Hui Uniona, the endorsement all the Republican and Democratic nominees, who are members of the Hui Uniona. And those not connected with the hui were not endorsed.

During the meeting, the Hui Uniona endorsed Captain Robert W. Parker for sheriff, he being a member of the hui. Parker was there, and received the congratulations of his associates.

According to those who were present at the meeting last night, Kane, Cohen's right hand man, left his seat when it was about time for the members of the hui to consider the candidacy of those aspiring for offices. It was generally reported before the meeting that Kane was to present

Cohen's name for consideration by the unionists; but, when he found that his name would not be endorsed, he silently walked out of the hall and remained away until the meeting adjourned.

Name Own Ticket.

For Senator—D. Kalauokalani, Sr. Supervisors—A. Fernandez, Wm. Ahia, Frank Pahlia and W. S. J. O. Makekau, chaplain of the Hui Uniona. Those endorsed on the Republican and Democratic legislative and county tickets are Captain R. W. Parker, for sheriff; David Nolley and Major Walter for supervisors; Chas. Kane, Ulysses Jones, J. K. Paele, H. M. Kanioho, E. J. McCandless, David Ahia, James H. Boyd, G. K. Keawe, and others for representatives.

"Had Cohen come to our meeting last night and pledged himself to support the constitution and by-laws of the Hui Uniona, he would have been endorsed by us," said one of the leaders this morning.

Cohen Claims Labor Vote.

"I don't know anything about this action of the Hui Uniona last night," said Cohen today. "I do know, however, that I have the labor vote with me, and that I will get a vote that is going to surprise the people. As for Kane, he is working for me tooth and nail."

Cohen denied a rumor that one of his supporters in Kakaako, a hack driver by the name of Malloy, is now out fighting for C. G. Bartlett, manager of the Brewery. "Malloy is working for Bartlett," declared Cohen.

CANDIDATES PLAN ELABORATE HAWAIIAN LUAS

Elaborate Hawaiian luau will be given either tonight or tomorrow night by those who received the nomination for supervisory honors.

Chas. Bartlett, manager of the Honolulu Brewing Company, and David Nolley, who were both nominated for supervisors on the Republican ticket, it is said, are preparing to give grand and elaborate luau in their respective homes, either tonight or tomorrow night.

Bartlett, according to one of his boys, has made necessary arrangements for a grand Hawaiian luau to be given at his residence in Kakaako. Pigs and other Hawaiian delicacies, including perhaps beverages of exceptionally good quality will be freely given, and those who had worked hard for the nomination of Bartlett have been invited to the luau.

John H. Wise, Bartlett's field marshal, who will manage the former's campaign preparatory to election in November, it is said, will be given a special seat by his boss' side. It is believed that a large number of the electorate will be present at the luau.

Nolley, who expects to be elected in November on the Board of Supervisors, is also making preparation for a big luau to be given in his house to morrow night.

FIRST DAY'S WORK OF CIVIC CONFERENCE

The first civic conference held in the Territory was opened here yesterday morning, the attendance of representatives from the Hilo Board of Trade, Kohala Civic League, Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, Honolulu Merchants' Association, Commercial Club, Hawaii Promotion Committee and Hawaii Fair Commission being large.

Dr. Elliott, president of the Hilo Board of Trade, under whose auspices the conference is held, made the welcoming address. He was followed by H. P. Wood, secretary of the Promotion Committee, who gave a graphic description of the work of the Promotion Committee and how it has added to the prosperity of the country by attracting tourists. Hawaii had been placed definitely on the map as one of the world's most attractive tourist resorts.

Following Mr. Wood's address and another by Mr. McKay of the Kohala Civic League, resolutions were unanimously passed endorsing the Promotion Committee's work, pledging the United civic organization support in asking the 1913 Legislature for liberal support for carrying on the promotion work.

Another paper, prepared by A. P. Taylor, secretary of the Hawaii Fair Commission, who recently returned from a visit to the exposition site in San Francisco, entitled "Hawaii at the San Francisco 1915 Exposition," was read, Mr. Taylor being unable to be present.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SCHOOL IS SOLVING WHAT IS PROBLEM HERE

How the Colebrook Academy Trains Pupils for Practical Work

How can the high school best meet the needs of the community? This is a problem in Hawaii and it is interesting to note that the people of Colebrook, New Hampshire, think they have solved the problem. Their experiment is interestingly described in a bulletin just issued for free distribution by the United States Bureau of Education.

Colebrook Academy is located in a town of about 2,000 population in New Hampshire. Starting in the first third of the century as a private school, it later became part of the public system of education. For years it has successfully done the work expected of a high school in the traditional branches of the New England school. Now it is trying to do something more. Without lowering its standards, without ceasing to furnish the training necessary for those going into the professions, it is endeavoring to provide an adequate education for the great mass of boys and girls who ought to remain and grow up with the country. It is seeking, in other words, to readjust itself to the needs of the particular community in which it is. Just what this readjustment means may be seen from the following four significant additions to the school plant; the greenhouse, the dairy laboratory, the domestic arts department, and the workshop, including a carpenter and blacksmith shop. Complete courses are given in agriculture and domestic science. Colebrook is the center of a rural district, and these are the vital interests of a large part of the population.

Colebrook Academy does not propose to become a vocational school. It remains a general high school. The courses in agriculture and domestic science exist side by side with thorough courses in the traditional high school subjects, as well as the commercial branches.

Freezing politeness is not restricted. Its purpose is not primarily to lead to the ice man.

make good farmers, or skilled mechanics, or professional housekeepers," says Hon. H. C. Morrison, State superintendent of New Hampshire. "The primary object is the education of the boy and girl to become a sincere and efficient and happy man and woman, capable of becoming an educational worker with material things, capable of getting life's happiness out of work, if indeed it comes at all. A further purpose is to educate the strongest youth toward the farm and the industries instead of toward the professions and business exclusively. In the work of the school it is repeatedly emphasized that the new courses are established in the belief that there is just as truly a cultural development of the individual to be had from competent instruction in agriculture or domestic science as from competent instruction in Latin. Particularly important is the part to be played by the reconstructed rural high school in the country life movement. The Colebrook Academy dignifies the fundamental arts of agriculture and home-making. Given schools of this type, with a program of studies matching the real interests of the community, and rural civilization may in truth be made as efficient and satisfying as other civilization.

REPUBLICANS IN DEMOCRATS HEADQUARTERS TOMORROW

Business management and efficient organization will be the "keynotes" of the Republican campaign in Hawaii this fall.

Securing headquarters in the Cummins building, above Castle & Cooke's offices, the Territorial and county committees will jointly occupy the offices tomorrow for the first time. Two big rooms with a doorway connecting give all the necessary space. Behind this counter will be the desks of stenographers, a bookkeeper and cashier, publicity man, clerks and other minor officials.

In the inner room will be the desks of the executive heads of the campaign. B. von Damm, chairman of the county committee, and R. W. Shingle, chairman of the Territorial central headquarters here. Various secretaries will also be quartered in this room, the rear of which will be devoted to the committee sessions.

Two big street banners will be hung this afternoon or tomorrow. One will stretch diagonally across the street from above the corner entrance of Castle & Cooke to the corner entrance of the Waterhouse Trust Company. The other will be flung to the breeze above the Fort street entrance to the Cummins block.

The first meeting in the new headquarters will be held tomorrow at noon, when the county committee meets with the county and legislative candidates to talk over campaign plans.

As the Territorial campaign concerns only the election of Delegate Kuhio, most of the work at headquarters will be on behalf of the county campaign. However, both committees are working harmoniously and expect to carry on their activities side by side.

SECURE THEIR HEADQUARTERS

The Democratic County Central Committee through Chairman Rivenburgh secured headquarters this morning in the Waity building on King street near Fort. The furniture is going in today and tomorrow all will be in readiness to open the campaign. An advisory committee is to be named by the various candidates and Col. McCarthy, candidate for county treasurer will probably be named chairman and make his headquarters in the committee's rooms.

Although no definite plan of campaign has been adopted as yet, it is understood that the majority of the leaders favor a hustling but quiet missionary campaign in the various precincts until two weeks before election when the speechmaking will begin.

AFTER-DEATH

CUSTOMS IN JAPAN

Until the latter part of this month the inmates of all prisons in Japan will have a holiday, this order having gone into effect from July 31st, the day after the Emperor's death. The prisoners are usually employed for ten hours a day at stonecutting, digging, sewing and hemp weaving. Under the vacation rule they will have no work to do but listen to lectures by the prison officials for two hours a day. It is reported that the prisoners all over the empire were notified of the Emperor's illness and his death, and sorrow was generally expressed.

Immediately following the Emperor's death some enterprising Japanese merchant, whose name is yet unknown to the public, began a corner of all the crepe in the empire. As this goods is not manufactured in Japan, he easily accomplished his purpose, when the Tokio papers took up the matter and waged such a campaign that the merchant retired into the background. The price of crepe, however, owing to the unprecedented demand, went up considerably. The prevailing price is 30 sen, or 15 cents, for an arm band or hat band, and 12 sen, or 6 cents, for a breast band. New York Sun.
